

Both

Choosing is no longer an option.

For a long time, ministry leaders have assumed they had to choose.

They've had to choose between disruptive innovation or sustainable systems. Today, smart churches are realizing that their survival depends on not choosing. Instead, they are embracing both creativity and structure as partners in the same dance.

Easier said than done.

Most churches are good at one or the other. Some ministries organize and reorganize themselves to the point of sterility and irrelevance. Others are infatuated with the new and shiny to the point of breathless dependence on the next attention-grabbing splash.

There is another way.

Ministry Architects helps churches build healthy systems that create space for deliberate, often disruptive, innovation.

The way of both.

A PROVEN PROCESS

Each Ministry Architects project combines three essential elements.

DEEP LISTENING ASSESSMENT

First we listen to get a full picture of the unique needs and aspirations of your ministry.

"The consultants took the time to truly understand our church's ministry and context. Their experience with so many other churches helped us identify our unique gifts as a church as they shared their observations."

Taylor Fuerst

Senior Pastor, First United Methodist Church · Austin, Texas

CUSTOMIZED BLUEPRINT

Based on what we learn, we design a plan focused on sustainability, health, and results.

"Our decision to use Ministry Architects was a no-brainer! Their assessment report was thorough, easy to follow, and came with a timeline that is doable! They left a wake of enthusiasm."

Jane Carden

Coordinator of Youth Ministry at Third Presbyterian · Rochester, New York

STRATEGIC IMPLEMENTATION

We execute the plan in alignment with each church's unique DNA.

"I have served on a lot of different boards and committees. Every one of them would be envious of the leadership, the organization, the structure, and the process that I recognize that you are bringing to this entire process. I feel like there's grace and there's ease and functionality that goes beyond most things that I've been involved in at a committee level."
